

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second-class mailable matter.

A MARRIAGE LICENSE

Served on a Widow and Returned, Attachment Void.

Marriage licenses are in the nature of a sheriff's execution, and like them they are sometimes returned to the County Clerk, "no property found." It does not often occur, however, that a faithful and efficient man in the business is obliged to return his license for want of something on which to lay his attachment, no more than about four such cases happening in about fifteen hundred successful ones in this county, but one of these developed last week, when a widower of more than sixty years, whose wife died last spring, brought back to County Clerk Smith a license which had been granted to him several days before to wed a young and good looking widow of twenty-two years, who had a number of suitors for her hand in the northern part of this county, where the couple reside. The widower handed the license back to the County Clerk with an expression as solemn as that which an undertaker wears when he is preparing his heaviest insolvent creditor for burial. He then sat down, heaved a sigh and to the group in the office, looking on in sympathy, he said: "Gentlemen, you can't trust a widder. Why sir, I give her a brand new, store bought, red calliker dress if she would take me instid of them other fellers, and when she said she would I come to town, bought the dress and took out the license at the same time, and when she got the calliker, she put me off, as she said, until she could make the dress, and now you see she won't hev me at all. If the Clerk will jist keep that dockyment and wait till I scour the county, I'll hev another woman's name to be put in it, but it won't be a widder's." The bereaved groom was informed, however, that the State would not allow the Clerks to make erasures of names and use old licenses for new brides, and he departed for home a crestfallen but still hopeful man, in the search for a successor to the sprightly widow.

Old Furnaces Uncovered.

In excavating for the foundation of the Masonic Temple on Ann street, the workmen uncovered on Monday some old furnaces which were several feet underground. They were under a spot where a large smoke house used to stand and were built by the late Paddy Burns, for many years a prominent merchant in this city, for the purpose of smoking the bacon he cured in the house every winter. The furnaces were very large and we are told by the old citizens that "Old Paddy" used to fill them with hickory cordwood and the "smudge" they made was something fearful.

The old smoke house was torn away some forty years ago, and none but our older citizens remember ever having seen it. Burns was an Irishman by birth, but ardently attached to Frankfort and her people, and was up in arms in an instant to resent any slighting remark made about the place. On one occasion a tramp tailor spoke disparagingly of the town in his presence and old Paddy remarked to him: "Young man, if ye don't like the town ye can lave it." "But I don't intend to leave until I get ready," said the tailor; "I'm not afraid of anyone here." "But," said Burns, "there is somebody damnably afraid of you." "What should they be afraid of me for?" asked the tailor. "The're afraid you'll stale something," said Burns.

The store he occupied stood upon the ground where Messrs. Crutcher & Starks' establishment now stands, and it is said of him that when in a good humor his laugh was so hearty that it could be heard down at the St. Clair street bridge, but in the latter years of his life he lost his voice and talked in a whisper up to his death, which was sudden and unexpected.

He was one of the most popular men who ever lived in this city, and our old citizens still love to talk of his eccentricities and kindness of heart.

Sore throat and bronchial affections are speedily relieved and effectually cured by the use of that safe and reliable remedy, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It has stood the test of half a century.

Ingomar Monday Night.

The Labadie, Rowell Company will present the ever popular classic drama, "Ingomar," at the Opera House, Monday, Oct. 10th. The management assures the patrons of the house that they will be more than pleased with the presentation of this grand production, as both Mr. Labadie and Miss Rowell are finished actors and the entire company has been well tried by critical audiences in all the first class theaters in the east.

Detroit Chaff:—Mr. Labadie was the star of the evening. The talented young actor has a fine conception of the character, and his development of the leading phases were artistic and full of dramatic force. His rich, clear voice and manly presence captured the audience at once. The author should congratulate himself in securing Mr. Labadie for the leading part in his plays.

Why Don't You Stop

These words are very familiar to our readers, as not a day passes without the report of the sudden death of some prominent citizen. The explanation is "Heart Diseases." Therefore beware if you have any of the following symptoms: Short Breath, Pain in Side, Smothering Spells, Swollen Ankles, Asthmatic Breathing, Weak and Hungry Spells, Tenderness in Shoulder or Arm, Fluttering of Heart or Irregular Pulse. These symptoms mean heart disease. The most reliable remedy is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which has saved thousands of lives. Book of testimonials free at J. W. Gayle's who also sells the New Heart Cure. 1

County Court.

The announcement that the candidates for Congress would speak at the Court House on Monday, and the fact of its being County Court day, drew a large crowd to the city on that day. The offerings of stock were about as usual and prices ruled about the same. Election fluid was circulating freely and some of those who were here went home feeling as happy as if they had been elected President or Sheriff.

Diamond Bentley, auctioneer, reports the following sales: 14 horses from $25 to $100.50; 7 mules from $45 to $95; 6 colts $25 to $35.10; 4 milk cows from $14.10 to $25.25; 4 calves at $13.50 per head; 20 calves at $14.50 per head; 20 yearling steers at $18.10 per head; 6 dry cows at $6.40 per 100.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials.

Utilizing the Clay.

Since the soil was removed from the lot upon which the Masonic Temple will be built, on Ann street, the underlying clay, which is of excellent quality, is being removed to the brick yard of Messrs. Gault & Co., at the foot of Main street, South Side, where it is being made into brick which, when burned, will be laid in the walls of the building. As the amount of earth to be removed from the excavation for the basement of the building is considerable, it is thought there will be enough clay taken out to manufacture nearly all the brick to be used in the immense structure.

A Horrible Railroad Accident.

Is daily chronic in our papers; also the death of some dear friend, who has died with Consumption, whereas, if he or she had taken Otto's Cure for Throat and Lung disease in time, life would have been rendered happier and perhaps saved. Heed the warning! If you have a cough or any affection of the Throat or Lungs call at Chapman & Williams' and get a trial bottle free. Large size 50c.

The Fall Meeting.

The fall meeting of the Kentucky Association begins in Lexington on Saturday next, October 15th, and will continue until Thursday, the 27th. A number of fine races have been arranged for, among the entries are a number of fine youngsters, and good sport is promised during the meeting. The L. & N. Railroad will sell reduced rate tickets to Lexington and return during the meeting.

Matrimonial.

KELLY-WEBB—Mr. Charles Kelly and Miss Maggie Webb, of Switzer, were granted a license to marry Monday.

GROVES-CUTSHAW—Mr. W. T. Groves and Miss Malvina Cutshaw, of Flat Creek, were united in marriage Monday at the Court-house by County Judge Williams.

DAVIS-MILLER—Mr. George Davis and Miss Mary E. Miller, daughter of Mr. Fred Miller, of this city, were married Wednesday, Rev. W. C. Taylor performing the ceremony.

HALDI LUTKEMEIER—The marriage of Mr. Emil Haldi to Miss Annie Lutkemeier has been announced to take place at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. Wm. C. Lutkemeier, next Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 2 o'clock p. m.

BOOKS-MCDOWELL—Miss Amelia, daughter of Mr. Joseph McDowell, of Danville, a brother of Col. Nicholas McDowell, State Agricultural Commissioner, was married Wednesday to Hon. John M. Brooks, Mayor of Middlesborough.

MCCREARY-NEWBERRY—Robert Hughes McCreary, son of ex-Gov. McCreary, and Miss Jessie Newberry, daughter of Gen. Robert C. Newberry, were married at Chicago Wednesday. Robert lived in this city a number of years and has many friends here who congratulate him on his good fortune.

SMOOT-SMOOT—Mr. Ransom Smoot, of Owen county, and Miss Gertie Smoot, of this city, were married Sunday at the residence of Mr. Henry Vest on the South Side, Rev. W. C. Taylor officiating. The couple went to Boone county to visit relatives and will return to Owen county, their future home.

OFFUT-WELLS—The Georgetown Times announces that Miss Margaret Wells, of that city, who has numerous friends here, will be married Wednesday, Oct. 26th, to Mr. Jack Offut, of Louisville, the ceremony to take place at the Christian Church at nine o'clock in the evening.

MEANS-RINGO—Miss Ruby Ringo, daughter of Hon. Willis L. Ringo, Secretary of State under Gov. Buckner, was married Wednesday in that city to Mr. S. C. Means, a son of Mr. John Means, one of the wealthiest men in that part of the State.

Mr. Mean's father is in ill health and his extensive railroad, iron and other business interests are conducted by the son, who, though quite a young man, has shown great capacity in such large undertakings.

The bride's personal charms and splendid character won her a large circle of admiring friends during her father's residence here and the intelligence of her happy marriage has evoked the benediction of their warmest praises and congratulations.

A Strong Endorsement.

The daily press of New York is not given to gush over things theatrical, and it is a strange thing to see an endorsement of either an actor or a play without some qualifying and killing conjunctive sentence; therefore the following account of the production at the Union Square Theatre of "A Kentucky Colonel" by those sterling actors McKee Rankin and Frederic Bryton, which is taken from the New York "Recorder," is about the strongest metropolitan endorsement we have seen in late years. The Recorder says:

"A Kentucky Colonel" now running at the Union Square Theatre is as great a financial as it is an artistic success. There is more fine acting to the square minute in the play than can be seen in any other production now on the boards. McKee Rankin's portrayal of the "Colonel" is an etching. Frederic Bryton's "Boyd" is an inspiration. It electrified the house. The audience rose at him as it did once at Edmund Keene."

At the Opera House to-night.

Mr. Wright's Story.

Fetter's Southern Magazine for September contains a very readable little story, entitled "The Villa Capella," from the pen of Rev. C. Q. Wright, very prettily illustrated. The scene of the romance is in far away Italy, adjacent to the locality where Mr. Wright and family are sojourning at present. It reads very much like a chapter from real life and we should not be surprised if the incident related in a most pleasing strain was in reality a sketch of personages whom he has met, and of places he has visited.
